The celebration of EmilyAnn Theatre's 10th anniversary Sunday night at Highpoint Manor had a few surprises besides the birthday cake.

The city's only outdoor theater is about to grow by another six acres.

Supporters of the non-profit group, which assists students learning Shakespeare each summer, announced plans to raise the funds to purchase the adjacent six acres bordering the facility on FM 2325.

Theater representatives entered into a contract last year to buy the strip of land.

The combined birthday party and dinner feast brought out about 200 guests who enjoyed table service from Elvis, Marilyn Monroe and the Wicked Witch of the West. There were also live performances of Broadway favorites, entertainment by singer Adrienne Haan, who came from Germany just for the event, and a fundraising effort to come up with $50,000.
